Green Flowers To Strengthen Body-Earth Alignment

Primary Indications:

- * Builds strength, resilience and vitality in the body, through alignment with Earth's life forces
- * Provides grounding and stabilizing forces that protect from psychic dysfunction and immune distress in high intensity urban and technological environments
- * Facilitates harmonious and vitalizing connection with Earth substances and forces when used for healing, gardening, artistic or professional pursuits
- * Guides consciousness from "ego" to "eco" – so that ecological values move beyond abstract rules or political formulas, toward a vibrant awareness of the Earth as a living being
- * Motivates when feelings of discouragement, despair, or apathy threaten one's -positive outlook and active commitment to work for the healing and transformation of the Earth
- * Increases appreciation of the Earth during travel, recreation or work by sensitizing awareness and perception for micro and macro manifestations of life
- * Cultivates connection for children who do not feel bonded with Nature due to excessive urbanization and technological influences
- * Fosters animal communication and connection – especially animals that may be suffering from urban stress – can be used by both caretaker and animal

Positive qualities: Ability to integrate personal identity with a larger awareness of the Earth as a living organism, deeper bonding with living processes, animals and plants, with the ability to see their inter-relationships

Patterns of imbalance: Ego rather than eco consciousness; need for personal wealth, comfort and convenience without awareness of larger consequences for the Earth and other sentient beings; inability to imagine or relate to the Earth as a living organism; lack of integration and harmony of personal lifestyle and larger planetary reality
