A Child's Bouquet To Soothe Feelings And Nourish Radiance

Primary Indications:

- * A baseline formula for all children from infancy to pre-adolescence championing the inherent light within the child; helping the soul of the child to find expression and self-esteem
- * For any developmental challenges in the child such as learning impediments, emotional trauma, or inappropriate sexual disturbance in the child due to abuse or related cultural influences
- * During any time of crisis or dissolution in the child's family, at school or in the community – such as divorce, death or natural disaster
- * As a general protection against hardening or disturbing influences that disrupt the natural learning rhythms of the child, such as technology, travel, or homelessness
- * To assist in the over-all harmony of thinking, feeling and willing forces in the child; when the child may develop mental or physical abilities beyond the soul's capacity for balance and moral advancement

Positive qualities: Vibrant developmental growth throughout all stages of childhood and pre-adolescence; ability of the child to harmonize interior states of soul consciousness with bodily development; integration of mental forces with emotional learning patterns; soul radiance and exuberance as the foundational identity of the child

Patterns of imbalance: Developmental challenges, learning impediments, emotional trauma or inappropriate sexual disturbance; loss of innocence, radiance or natural receptivity in the child due to stress or trauma; hardening forces from technology or abstract pedagogical methods that stymie the child's natural curiosity and balanced development
