To Recover And Rebuild From Shock And Trauma

Primary Indications:

- * For loss or disruption of any kind that creates bewilderment, numbness or shock in the body-soul complex – including amputation or debilitating injury within the physical body; loss or disruption to one's home, community or environment
- * For relief work in any natural disaster or war zone – to address prolonged levels of shock and trauma and to help victims re-build and renew; beneficial for both humans and animals
- * Following any major surgery and during any sustained course of physical rehabilitation
- * Following the loss of a loved one or pet, if symptoms of shock or disassociation persist; can be used in tandem or in alternation with Grief Relief
- * As a supplement to drug rehabilitation, when the soul faces shattering memories or acknowledges what has been lost or damaged in one's life
- * For re-occurring violent dreams and memories of past trauma, which intrude long after other forms of healing have brought physical stabilization

Positive qualities: Ability to recover body and soul forces following from any shock or trauma; regenerative and re-building forces within body and soul following a crisis, or catastrophe; resilience and re-integration following devastation or loss

Patterns of imbalance: Numbness, paralysis, disassociation or disembodiment following a shattering life episode; inability to recoup and recover one's body-soul forces after loss or violation of any kind; prolonged shock or paralysis, including fixation on original trauma
